ABRA Auto Body & Glass Expands Commitment to SCRS

Company Member upgrades support of SCRS and signs on as Corporate Member

Prosser, Washington, March 26, 2007 — The Society of Collision Repair Specialists (SCRS) announced today that ABRA Auto Body & Glass, a national damaged vehicle repair company based in Minneapolis, Minnesota, is increasing its overall commitment to the Society by enrolling as a Corporate Member.

ABRA had previously supported SCRS as a Company Member, but believed the time was right to upgrade its membership to the next level. “By working closely with SCRS as a Company Member we got a first-hand look at what the organization was about, and we liked what we saw,” states Rollie Benjamin, President and Chief Executive Officer of ABRA. “The efforts they make on behalf of the collision repair industry—in such areas as estimatics, paint procedures and providing access to factory repair information—are exemplary. Increasing our membership commitment is one way ABRA, as an organization, can help make sure that these professionals continue to do what they do best—represent the industry’s best interests.”

As a Corporate Member, ABRA will now be eligible to advertise on and be linked from the SCRS website, and their logo will appear on SCRS stationery. They will continue to participate in the quarterly member mailings they received as a Company Member.

“Rollie Benjamin and Executive Vice President of Business Development Tim Adlemann have been long time supporters of SCRS,” notes SCRS Chairman Tom Moreland. “They frequently attend the SCRS Board meetings and continually keep their finger on the pulse of what SCRS is doing for its membership and the industry. Becoming a Corporate Member is a natural progression for their company. We’d like to thank them and welcome them in their expanded role. They have proven their adherence to the principle of ‘Working Together Is the Most Important Work We Do’.”
