SCRS Announces Its Newest Corporate Member: ALLDATA

Prosser, Washington, January 15, 2007 — The Society of Collision Repair Specialists (SCRS) is pleased to announce its newest Corporate Member, ALLDATA[®] LLC, the market leader in computer-based automotive repair information, shop management software and shop marketing products for the automotive service industry.

ALLDATA decided to become a Corporate Member of SCRS because such a move was in line with its 24-year history of providing customers' methods and tools to improve their businesses—notably their CollisionConnectSM product, which makes comprehensive OEM collision repair service information available from a single consolidated source.

ALLDATA “ALLDATA believes it has an opportunity to solve some of the fundamental issues that face the collision industry, particularly those that can be resolved through the distribution of reliable repair data to body shops and technicians,” states Steve Gill, ALLDATA's Vice President – Program Development. “Our support of SCRS—which is likewise committed to industry improvement—demonstrates our broader support of the collision industry and its desire to grow as a profession.”

Representatives from ALLDATA met with SCRS Executive Director Dan Risley and a number of shop owners and technicians—many of them SCRS members—at NACE in November 2006. During the course of those meetings, it became apparent that there was significant synergy between the organizations and Corporate Membership soon followed.

“In the past, I have had the opportunity to work with Steve and the ALLDATA team on a number of initiatives,” says Risley, “and formalizing the relationship between our two organizations seemed like a natural step forward. Their aggressive pursuit of quality information for the industry is impressive. We appreciate their support, as it provides another opportunity to prove that ‘Working Together Is The Most Important Work We Do’.”

The SCRS Corporate Membership Program founded in 1993, partners SCRS and key corporations serving the collision industry. Corporate Members enable SCRS to maintain and increase the current and future level of service to its' direct and affiliate members, to purchase the equipment and technology necessary to operate efficiently and to participate with the other associations who are working to better the industry.

ALLDATA is the leading provider of automotive repair information and solutions to the Professional Automotive Service Industry. Professional repair shops across North America depend on ALLDATA for their automotive repair information needs and the ability to purchase AutoZone® parts from more than 2,000 AutoZone commercial locations. Visit www.autozone.com or www.alldata.com for more information.

Through its direct members and 33 affiliate associations, SCRS is comprised of 6,000 collision repair businesses and 58,500 specialized professionals who work with consumers and insurance companies to repair collision-damaged vehicles. Additional information about SCRS including other news releases is available at the SCRS web site: www.scrs.com. You can e-mail SCRS at the following address: info@scrs.com.
