

Anti-Trust Disclaimer

Please be advised that at any and all meetings, the following guidelines for conduct shall be established and followed:

No participant shall be allowed to discuss any subject relating to prices charged, discounts offered of any nature, hourly rate, employee benefits, or agreements made with third party entities. Should any discussion of these items take place, said participant will be asked to refrain immediately, disregarding any pursuant discussion, and should said party deny such request, the meeting will be immediately disbanded.

All participants are herewith notified that the materials presented herein are not to be construed as information or direction to take concerted actions. Information can be utilized by individuals acting within their own judgment, making sound business decisions, without agreements with other participants of this meeting.

This notice is hereby read with regard to the laws governing this conduct.

The Society of Collision Repair Specialists (SCRS) is committed to compliance with the letter and spirit of the anti-trust laws. Topics which present anti-trust implications should not be discussed.

Any meeting conducted under the auspices of SCRS are designed solely to provide a forum for expressing various view points on topics described in the agenda and/or for setting the direction of the association.

Under no circumstances shall SCRS meetings be used as a means for competing companies or firms to reach any understanding, expressed or implied, which restricts competition.

The SCRS Board of Directors and its' staff have been instructed to stop any conversation or discussion related to restraint of trade, price fixing, compensation, reimbursement, rate settling, marketing strategies and any other topics that could be considered anti-competitive.
